The AUTHOR's
PREFACE
TO His PUPILS.

AFTER I had taken upon me the Office of Professor in Physic, and endeavour'd to fit myself for the Calling of a Teacher in that Faculty, which was confirmed to me by Authority from the Heads of the University; I began to think my incumbent Duty would consist chiefly in exhibiting all those Discoveries to you in a clear Light, which have resulted at different times from well grounded Observation and pertinent Experiments; such as must be always acknowledged for true and solid Principles in the Science.

With this View I search'd thro' those Writings of the Ancients, which we have at this Day the Happiness of possessing, taking notice of the most important Matters which by their Sagacity and Industry they had found out and consider'd. But at the same time that I was busy in compiling, I was no less active and observing in Matters of Practice; by which means I became an Eye-witness of the several Appearances which had been before recorded of Nature: nor could I anywhere find, or even wish for, a better Course to take than this.

I was in the mean time cautious not to omit any thing of Consequence that had been register'd on ancient Monuments, or advanced by Arabian Writers, during the several Centuries that by a general Neglect of Learning in Europe, the Improvement of Physic lay only in the Hands of that People; so that, by translating 'em into Latin, they might become more diffus'd and intelligible amongst us. But I have frequently lamented that the Arabians, however wise and abounding with good Advice, should, by their many useless Subtleties, have done so much more harm than good in the Science.

After the Ancients, I also pursued with equal Attention the pleasing Researches of the Moderns; whose Advances, in Philosophy and the liberal Arts, are the more strongly recommended to our Consultation, as they have a greater Tendency to the Promotion of Physic. You may reasonably suppose, that these afforded a good deal of Pleasure and Entertainment to a Genius particularly turned that way; but still, thro' a boundless Liberty of framing Hypotheses, by audaciously asserting false or uncertain Principles, and not taking Time and Thought enough to consider things in a true Light, together with an ambitious Eagerness to compleat the Science all at once; but above all, either thro' a Neglect, Contempt, or Ignor-rance of former Writers, thro' all these Miscon-duets, Physic seem'd to stand upon the tottering Basis of Uncertainty and Obscurity, rather than confirm'd and improved by Truth and Evidence. So that tho' we may thank our Predecessors for so freely accumulating Materials, whereby the Science might be set out in a more perfect manner; we may yet regret the Fate of the Science, in that it shou'd, by their voluminous Writings, be rather overwhelmed and buried, than exhibited to Advantage.

Whilst I was making this Search, nothing seem'd more rational than to sift out and throw together, from all these ancient and modern Writtings, whatever appear'd so sound and reasonable; that nobody skill'd in the Science could distrust the Truth of 'em. This Task being firrt accomplised, my next Busines was to form this promiscuous Collection in a sort of compendious System, agreeable to the Rules of Method in teaching any Science, and in such a manner as might make it capable of being easily and diligently consulted by myself; that if any thing new or unobserv'd shou'd offer in the Course of my Physical Employ, I might have an Opportunity of referring to its proper Head:
The Author's Preface to his Pupils.

Head: and lastly, that by this means I might be able to deliver and imprint faithfully such Observations on your Minds, as had been before weighed and digested in my own for your Interests.

You have now seen the Motives from which I became bold enough to increase the too great Number of Medical Writers, by publishing my little Book of Aphorisms concerning the Knowledge and Cure of Diseases. For which Piece of Presumption I blush, as often as I think on the Defects of the Book, with which I am too well acquainted, or whenever I compare it with some of the more excellent Performances of the Ancients. Being hence sensible that its Imperfections will not reasonably support me under, or give any room to look for the Title of a Good Author. I could not however avoid the Publication of those Aphorisms, unless I would have slighted the Office which public Authority had assigned me, to which Obedience ought to be paid.

Now when I composed that Work, I endeavoured cautiously to avoid every thing that might afford Matter of Danger or Error to Beginners; and as the Purpose of the Book was chiefly to deliver rather the Method than Materials for treating Diseases, I took care to insert no Prescriptions of Medicines throughout the whole.

This no ways prejudiced the Design of that Treatise, but rather prevented much harm from the the Empirical Practitioner; who, having once heard the Names of the Disease and Medicine, boasts himself Master of the Faculty, preaching up his Abilities every-where unpunished, to the Destruction of Mankind, till Wisdom comes too late at the Expence of others Lives.

But being under an Obligation of acquainting my Pupils, in Course, with Examples of this Kind, I therefore wrote a few Sheets upon the Materia Medica for their private Information, containing proper Directions for managing that Part of Physick; designed only for the Use of such as gave their close Attention to my other Dictates in the private Schools, to whom alone they could be of Service.

And I can appeal to no body better than your selves, as Witnesses with what Caution I have proceeded in this Point; how frequently I have consider'd every little Particular, till I have become even tiresome and odious to you, before I would venture to lay down the Name, or speak in Praise of any particular Medicine: being sufficiently sensible, that no Medicine can be given of Service in every Disease; but, on the contrary, I have found that what has cured one Disease under particular Circumstances, has in different Constitutions and Stages of the very same Disease proved of pernicious Consequence.

I thought it therefore improper to publish these Formulae alone, without the necessary Cautions and and Admonitions I endeavour to inculcate with 'em, according to the best of my Power, when I am speaking upon these Matters to my diligent Auditors. But, to my Grief, it has happen'd quite otherwise; for, a Person of Learning at London got 'em publish'd without my Will, or even Knowledge, who at the same time seems to think and write in too grand a manner of me, and that vile Performance; nor was this Publication executed without a good many Errors, and some of very bad Consequence.

This obliged me to revise the whole, correct the Errors, and make several Additions; that it might be better fitted for appearing in Print, to save them the trouble of transcribing, for whose Use it is designed. In the mean time I would closely and faithfully admonish you, as a Friend, to be thoroughly versed in the History of Diseases, to be well acquainted with all the pernicious, as well as salutary Effects of the Materia Medica; otherwise you will reap more Damage than Good from what is contained in this little Book: which, that it might be the more perfect and useful to you, has an Index adjoined to it by the Learned Samuel Dury, a Doctor of Physic, and considerable Well-wisher to the Science.

Gentlemen, farewell.

Written at Leyden in Holland.
For the Cure of Disorders that arise from a weak and relaxed Fibre.

SECT. XXVIII. No. 1.

The White of a new laid Egg, taken whilst the Warmth remains in it, and mix'd with equal... equal Parts of Milk and Water, without putting it over the Fire. Broth answers this End extremely well, which is prepared from Flesh well cleansed of its Fat, belonging to a sound, young, well exercised Animal, well beat, and cut into small Pieces, cooked in Papin's Digestor, letting it stand till it is cold in the same Machine, and then separating it from the Fat and Faeces. If you are not furnished with this Machine you may use a Brass Pot, but the more subtle Parts will evaporate: Hence appears the Cause of the Fierceness of Animals, whose Diet consists of others that devour their Prey alive.

Chicken Broth is preferable to that made from any other Animal; next to this Veal Broth, then Mutton, Beef. Broth made of these mix'd is esteem'd the richest.

Decoction of Bread.

Take of fine well fermented Biscuit eight ounces, of the purest Spring-water three Pints, let them boil together in an earthen Vessel well closed, for the Space of an Hour, add more Water, as fast as it wasteth away, then strain it through a Sieve.

Jelly of Bread,

Is nothing but the foregoing Decoction evaporated before the Fire, till a little of it being being thrown upon a cold Stone shall hang together.

Cream of Bread.

It is so called, when the foregoing Decoctions acquire the Thickness of Cream.

A little of this jelly mix'd up with Milk, Broth, Wine, Ale, or Water, forms various Kinds of light Nourishment.

This is a very grateful and wholesome Decotion of Bread. The Dose is an Ounce, to be taken warm every Hour.

If you add to this the Yolks of Eggs, you have another Kind of Decotion, answering the same Ends, but in a smaller Dose.

Rough Florence Wines, rough French Clarret, and black Grecian Wines that have an astringent Taste, are recommended for this Purpose, because they not only strengthen the Fibre, but afford good Quantity of Spirits.

The Earth, falsely so called, Catechu.
Tormentill, the Root.

From these you may easily prepare Infusions, Decoctions, Extracts, Pills, medicated Wines, and Forms of various Kinds; as for Example.

An Infusion.

Take Leaves of Goose-foot Mj. of Burnet
Mfs. of Tormentill Root 3fs. cut them in small Pieces, and let them stand cover'd in hot Water, 1bfjs. for half an Hour. The Dose is one Ounce every third Hour in the Day.
Dr. Boerhaave's

A Decoction.

Take of Leaves of sharp-pointed Dock Mj. red Roses 3ij. Tamarisk Bark 3ij. Sorrel Root 3ij. Dock Seeds bruised 3ij. Boil them for a quarter of an Hour in a sufficient Quantity of Steel Water, that there may remain 1bj. Give an Ounce three or four times in a Day.

Or,

Take of Sorrel Leaves Mij. of Bistort Root 3fs. of Pomegranate Flowers 3ij. after they have been boiled for a quarter of an Hour, in a sufficient Quantity of River Water, that there may remain a Pint, add to it Syrup of Myrtles an Ounce.

An Electuary.

Take Conserve of Quinces 3j. Conserve of red Roses 3fs. Pomegranate Flowers 3j. Syrup of Myrtle-Berries a sufficient Quantity to make the whole into an Electuary; the Dose of which is one Dram, three or four times in a Day.

An Extract.

Take of Sorrel Leaves Mvij. Leaves of Garden Dock Miv. Cinquefoil Mvij. Being all all cut small, and well boiled in a sufficient Quantity of clean Water; let the Juice be strongly forced out with a Press, and evaporated in a broad Vessel till it comes to the Consistence of an Extract. Of this may be given from ten Grains to two Drams.

If to this Extract be added a sufficient Quantity of the Root of Snake-weed in Powder, it forms a Mass of a proper Consistence for Pills; of which may be given from four to fifteen Grains for a Dose.

A Medicinal Wine.

Take of the Seeds of the largest sort of Sorrel in Powder 3v. Flowers of Pomegranates 3v. of Caper-roots 3ij. of the Bark of the Ash-tree 3x. Burnet Leaves Mij. These being all cut and bruised, infuse them in three Pints of red Port Wine. Of this, the Patient may take an Ounce, three or four times in a Day.

Or,

Take of Caper Bark and Roots, and of Tamarisck Bark each 3ij. of the Flowers of St. John's Wort (with the Tops of the Plant) 3ij. Being prepared as the former, make a medicinal Wine thereof, with three Pints of rough Red Wine.
Acid Austere Minerals.

Consisting of an acid, imbodied in an earthy Substance; which are the stronger as the acid is more ponderous, and the Earth absorbed thereby more in Quantity.

Martis in Vino Rhenano soluti à 3j. ad 5iv. Filings of Iron dissolv'd in Rhenish Wine may be given from 3j. to 5iv.

— Aceto Vini solut. à Gr. x. ad xxx. The same dissolv'd in White Wine Vinegar, from Gr. x. to xxx.

— Oleo Vitrioli soluto à Gr. j. ad vj. The same dissolv'd in Oil of Vitriol, from Gr. j. to vj.

Vitriolum album nativum, à Gr. j. ad iv. Native white Vitriol, from Gr. j. to iv.

— Stanni, à Gr. j. ad iv. Vitriol of Tin, from Gr. j. to iv.

Alumin. Romani, à Gr. j. ad xxx. Roch Alum, from Gr. j. to xxx.

Ex bis infinitæ sunt Formulæ. Of these may be composed an almost infinite Variety of Medicines.

A Powder.

Take of Roch Allum Gr. x. of Rhubarb Gr. v. Granate Peels Gr. iii. mix and make a Powder for one Dose.
Pills.

Take of Vitriol of Iron burnt white 3s. of Oak Galls Gr. x. of Tormentil Roots 3i. of the inspissated Juice of the Holly-Rose Tree, a Quantity sufficient to make the whole into a Mafs for Pills of Gr. ij. each.

In Diseases from the Fibres being too stiff and elastic.

Sect. xxxv. No 1.

Here are proper (1) the thinner sort of Decoctions of Bread, mention’d at Sect. 28. No 1. (2) The Juices of ripe Garden Fruit, either alone without any Preparation, or a little boiled, with Water to dilute ’em, and Sugar to qualify ’em. Such are,

- Aurant. malorum Succus. Orange Juice.
- BaccarumSambuciSuccus. Elder-berry Juice.
- Cerasorum dulcium omnia generae. Sweet Cherries of all Sorts.
- Cucumeres mites. Mild Cucumbers.
- Cucurbitæ mites. Mild Gourds.
- Ficus. Figs.
- Fraga. Strawberries.
- Granata Poma matura. Ripe Pomegranates.
- Jujuba. Jujeb.

Mala Armeniaca. Apricots.
Melones. Melons.
Mora. Mulberries.
Persicca Mala. Peaches.
Poma acido-dulcia. Apples that are tart and sweet.

Pruna dulcia. Sweet Plums.
Ribesia rubra, alba, nigra. Currants, red, white and black.
Rubi Idæi fructus. Raspberries.

Of these, by boiling, roasting, &c. may be made many palatable Preparations, E. G.

Take of ripe Apples pared No. x. boil 'em in Water the Space of an Hour, then beat them, and pulp them through a Sieve; to 3xxiv of this add of grated Nutmeg 3i. of grated Bisket 3i. of Rhenish-wine 3ij. of Sugar a sufficient Quantity.

Next to these are Pot-herbs (or such as are near related to them) of the mildest sort, consisting of a soft and mealy Substance.

Atriplex. Orach.
Battatas. Potatoes.
Beta. Beats.
Borago. Borage.
Brassica rubra. Red Cabbage.
Bulbocastano. Earth-nuts.
Chærophyllum. Chervil.
Chicoræa omnia. Succory of all Sorts.
Cinara. Artichoaks.
Cucumeres. Cucumbers.
Dens Leonis.  Dandelion.
Endiviae.  Endive.
Lactucae omnes ferè.  Lettuce, almost all the Sorts.
Pastinaceae.  Parsneps.
Portulacae.  Purlane.
Rapae.  Turneps.
Sisari Radix.  Skirret-Roots:
Scorzonerae Radix.  Roots of Vipers-grass.
Spinacia.  Spinach.
Tragopogoni Radix.  Roots of Goats-beard.

Of a more mealy Sort are,

Valeriana Pratenfis.  Valerian of the Meadows.
Amygdale dulces.  Sweet Almonds.
Avena.  Oats.
Fagopyrum, vel Frumentum Sarafenicum.  Buck-wheat.
Hordeum.  Barley.
Millium.  Millet.
Oryza.  Rice.
Panicum.  Panick.
Triticum.  Wheat.
Secale.  Rye.
Spelta.  French Barley.

Of these are made Decoctions, Cream, &c. as of Bread, as at § 28. No 1.

Of the fame are also made simple Emulsions; as,

Take
Dr. Boerhaave's

Take of whole Oat-meal \( \frac{3}{ij} \), sweet Almonds \( \frac{3}{ij} \), make an Emulsion with Barley-water, to \( \frac{3}{xxxiv} \) of which add of Syrup of Violets \( \frac{3}{ifs} \), Cinnamon-water \( \frac{3}{ifs} \). Of this the Patient may take one Ounce every Hour in the Day.

A Decoction.

Take of the fresh gather’d Leaves of Borage, Lettuce, and wild Valerian, each \( \frac{Mfis.}{ij} \) of the Roots of Snake-weed fresh gather’d and bruised \( \frac{3jv.}{ij} \) of Barley Meal \( \frac{3ij}{ij} \). Boil a quarter of an Hour in four Pints of Water, and then add of Syrup of Marshmallows and of Violets each \( \frac{3j}{3ij} \). Of this may be drank two Ounces every Hour.

Sect. xxxv. No 3.

Containing watery, somewhat mealy and oily, soft and emollient Substances: As,

Water made into a Decoction with the farinacious and emollient Substances mention’d at No 1. of this Section. Then follow,

Take of Sperma Ceti, and of Borace, each ʒj. mix and make a Powder, to be divided into eight Doses; give one in a little Wine every two Hours.

Cleansers

Are such Medicines as drive out the gluey Fluids, or half corrupted Solids, from those Parts to which by their Tenacity they have adhered. Of this Sort are the Diluents and Resolvents before mentioned, but especially soapy and alcaline Substances; as also the Honeys with Vinegar.

For the Cure of Diseases arising from Acidities in the Prima Vice.

Absorbers of Acids,

Are such Substances as upon mixture with Acids destroy their Acrimony and preying force, so that they can no longer act, or produce any Effects as an Acid; whilst at the same time the absorbent Body possesseth nothing of an Acrimony that can prove any ways pernicious to the animal Fabric; upon which account these Sorts of Substances seem to merit the Preference for this Purpose beyond any others; they may however chance to be both useless and prejudicial by their Weight and Clogginess, if instead of an Acid they should meet with an inactive Flegm in the Prima Via. — Of this Sort are,

Blunters of Acids

*Are such Substances as by their Softness and Viscidity so invest and sheath the Points and Edges of Acids, as to prevent any bad Effects from their Sharpness; these defend the Membranes they line against any Impression from the acid Spiculae, and also remove any such Impression when already made; the only bad Effect they can produce, is in Bodies of a weak and lax Habit, where that Indisposition will be increased by the Use of them. Of this Sort are,*

Amygdalæ, dulces & A-marae. Almonds, sweet and bitter.

Pistachia.
Materia Medica.

Pistachiae. Piñachio-nuts.
Nuces Avellane. Philberd-nuts.
Juglandes. Walnuts.
Cocos. Cocoa-nuts.

Oils expressed from all these, and from Olives, &c.

(2.) Jellies from the inspissated Broth of Flesh and Fish.

(3.) The milder sort of oily Aromatics, so far as they contain a butyraseous Oil; for which consult §. 66. No 1.

Together with the almost infinite Number of Preparations that may be from these compounded.

Changers, or rather Neutralizers of Acids, are such Salts as immediately upon Contact produce an Effervescence and Collision of Parts, at which time the animal Fibres are stimulated, and their Fluids agitated; but uniting afterwards with the Acid, they form a new kind of Salt, in which still remains a Property of stimulating, opening, and of discharging, either by Perpiration or Urine. The Use of these is forbid only in Habits of a tense Fibre, and given to much Exercife. Such are All alcaline fixed Salts, made from any Vegetable whatever, by calcining; which may be given to gr. vj. for a Dose.

All alcaline volatile Salts obtained by Distillation from the various Parts of Animals, putrified putrified Vegetables, or from the Plants destroying Acidity mentioned at §. 66. No 1. These may be given to \( \exists \)s.

All Soaps, and faponaceous Substances, whether fixed or volatile. The fixed Sort, as Castile-Soap, &c. may be given to \( \frac{3}{3} \text{j.} \) for a Dose; the volatile to half that quantity. The later of these may be distinguish'd into three Classes.

(1.) All volatile Spirits that consist of an animal Oil and volatile Salt joined together, as are those from Blood, Urine, Harts-horn, raw Silk, &c.

(2.) Helmont's \( \text{Offa alba} \), made of the highest rectified Spirit of Wine, and the strongest Spirit of Sal Armoniac, well hook together, and intimately combin'd by Distillation.

(3.) The strongest volatile alcaline Salts joined by repeated Sublimation with some essentiaI aromatic Oil; \( \text{e.g.} \)

Take of the purest volatile Salt of Harts-horn in a dry form \( \frac{3}{3} \text{j.} \) of the essentiaI Oil of Citron-peels \( \frac{3}{3} \text{j.} \) sublume severaI times in a tall gla\( \text{s} \) Body.

In the last place, we reckon all the Compositions that may be formed from these Materials.

Against Diseases from a spontaneous Glue, or viscid Flegm form'd in the \( \text{Prima Vitæ} \), by a depraved Digestion of the Aliment.

\( \text{Sect.} \)
The Spices with which our solid and fluid Aliments may be agreeably season'd, are more particularly the following.

- Cinnamomum. (Cinnamon)
- Macis. (Mace)
- Nux Myristica. (Nutmegs)
- Cortex Aurantiorum. (Orange-peel)
- Thymus. (Thyme)
- Origanum. (Wild Marjoram)
- Caryophyl. Aromat. (Clove)
- Zinziber. (Ginger)
- Piper. (Pepper)
- Galanga min. (Lesser Galangal Roots)
- Cortex Citrei. (Citron-peels)
- Anisum. (Anniseeds)
- Coriandrum. (Coriander-seeds)
- Serpillum. (Wild Thyme)
- Cardamomum. (Cardamoms)

It is best to mix these with Bread, Wine, or Ale, before they have fermented.

For these Animal Broths turn to §. 66. No 1, 2.

These Strengtheners are enumerated at §. 28, and §. 47.
Stimulating Medicines,

Are such as being drove into the Fibres of the Vessels, do by their Weight, Resistance, Figure and Motion, increase their contractile Power, so as to make them act with a greater force and frequency. Of this Sort are,

I. All Acid-Saline Substances, which are either,

(1.) Crude, i. e. native. As

VI. All Insects that abound with a stimulating volatile Salt like No II. As, Afelli.

Formicæ.
Vermes majales.
Cantharides.

Wood-lice.
Ants.
Glow-worms.
Spanish-flies.

VII. All the stimulating Compounds which may be form'd from these enumerated Simples; as Decoctions, Extracts, Conserves, Electuaries, Tinctures, Spirits, Waters, volatile Salts that are oily and spirituous, Pills, Powders, &c. e. g.

A Decoction against Viscidities.

Take of the Leaves of round Birthwort, Germander and Rue, each M. j. of the Flowers of Agrimony and Marigolds, each 3fs. of the Roots of Angelica and Masterwort, each 3vj. of the Seeds of Succory and Garden Radish, each 3iv. of Saffafiras-bark and Cinnamon, each 3ij. let them steep in three Pints of Water, almost scalding, for the Space of two Hours; then boil in a Vessel close stop'd for about four Minutes. An Ounce of this may be given warm every Hour in the Day.
An Extract against glutinous Viscidities.

Take of the fresh gathered Leaves of Wormwood, Hemp-like Agrimony, white Horehound, and Tansey, of each an equal Quantity; being cut small, beat them in a Mortar, and then force out their Juice in a Press; which being skimm'd over a gentle Fire, and strain'd thro' a Sierce from its Faeces, is to be evaporated in a broad Vessiel till it has acquired the Consistence of a thick Honey; to this add a fortieth Part of (the Weight of the whole Extract) Tachenius's Salt of Wormwood. —— The Dose is half a Dram, twice a-day, upon an empty Stomach, in a Glass of French Claret.

The like sort of Extracts may be made by inspissating Decoctions, after the Liquor has been strongly press'd out of their Fœces.

A Conserve.

Take of the fresh gather'd Tops of Rue and Tansey, each 3j. of the fresh blown Flowers of Syrian Mastic, Rosemary and Lavender, each 3iv. of the fresh gathered Roots of Elecampane and Swallow-wort, each 3j. Seeds of Radish and Cresses, each 3iv. Being made into a Pulp after the usual Method, add a quarter of a Pound of Loaf-Sugar in powder. —— The Dose is a Dram, four four times in a Day, fasting; to be taken in a Glass of French or Spanish White-wine, Malaga, Sack, or the like,

An Electuary.

Take of preserv'd Ginger, candy'd Eryngo-root and Cinnamon, each 3 j. Syrup of Mint a sufficient quantity to make them into an Electuary; of which half a Dram may be given six times in a Day.

A Tincture.

Take of Gentian-root, of wholesome Wolfsbane-root, each 3 j. Flowers of the lesser Centory 3 j. Saffron 3 j. Laurel and Juniper-berries, each 3 ifs. Rocket and Mustard-seed, each 3 ifs. digest 12 Hours in three Pints of Spirit of Wine. The Dose is two Drams, given three times in a Day, upon an empty Stomach, in a Glass of Mead.

A Spirit.

Take of the Flowers of Lavender, Tansey, Orange and Rosemary, each 3 j. of the Roots of Angelica, Elecampane, Masterwort and Lovage, each 3 ifs. of the Seeds of Caraway, Succory, Rocket and Cresses, each 3 j. of the Barks of Juniper, Saffafras, and Cinnamon, each 3 ifs. distil with so much Spirit of Wine as to draw off three pounds, and distil it twice over over again from the Rehdaum: A quarter of an Ounce of it may be given for a Dose, three times a-day, in a Glass of Wine, or Mead.

An aromatic Water

May be made from the former Ingredients, by adding simple Water in the room of Spirit of Wine; but it must be in a much larger quantity.

A volatile oily Salt in a liquid Form.

Take of the preceding Spirit ibij. of Pot-Ashes 3iij. Salt Armoniac 3iij. draw off one Pound by the Retort, and dissolve therein essential Oils of Citron-peels gut. vj. of Lavender gut. xx. of Marjoram gut. vj. The Dose is nine Drops, taken three or four times a-day in a Glass of Wine or Mead.

Pills.

Take of Gum Ammoniac and Opopanax, each 3ij. of the fresh gather'd Roots of Wake-Robin 3iij. of Castile-Soap 3j. of the essential Oil of Tansey gut. x. mix, and make into Pills, each of three Grains weight; which are to be gilded, and taken one every third Hour in the Day.
A Powder.

Take of the distill'd Oils of Mint, Marjoram, and Tansey, each gut. vj. drop them upon an Ounce of the driest Loaf-Sugar, by which means you have an Elaepaccharum, or oily Sugar; to which add Powder of white Ginger and Cinnamon, each 3jv. Half a Dram of this may be given for a Dose, three times a-day, in a Glass of Wine.

A medicinal Wine

May be made of the Ingredients from the Spirit or Tincture of this Section, by digesting with Wine instead of its Spirit; of which two Ounces may be given for a Dose, three or four times in a Day.

A Diet-Drink

May be also made by putting that quantity of the same Ingredients into a Hoghead of Ale whilst it is working; which may be taken as common Drink.

Bilious Medicines, as

The Gall of Quadrupeds, and of Fish, particularly of the Wolf and Eel; e.g. in Pills.
Take of the Gall of an Ox, and of the Wolf-fish, each 3jv. let them evaporate over a low a flow Fire to the Confidence of Honey, and then add of the Meal of Wake-Robin Roots fresh gather'd a quantity sufficient to make them into Pills, each of three Grains weight, which are to be gilded, and taken one Morning, Noon, and Night, an Hour before Meals.

Here belongs (1.) the Stone of the Porcupine or Hedge-hog, call'd Pedra d'el Porco; an Infusion of which in Carduus-water or Rhenish-wine may be given to two or three Ounces. (2.) Helmont's Stone, made of the Liver and Gall of an Eel, dry'd before the Fire to a Powder, and given in some Conserve to the quantity of a Dram, drinking three Ounces of Rhenish-wine after it.

Sect.
Anodynes, are such Medicines as diminish, or wholly remove the Causes of Pain. Such are,

1. The Diluents at §. 54. No 4.
2. The Relaxers at §. 35. No 1.
5. Those which disperse tense Swellings or Tumours, at §. 54. No 4.

Narcotics are those Medicines which stu- pify or dull the Sensibility of the Nerves. Of these there are two Sorts, differing in Strength.

1. Paregories, or the mildest and most innocent Kind of Narcotics; as,

- Sem. Papaver. alb. con- tusor. ʒij.
- Syrup Capit. Papav. alb. ʒis.
- Diacod ʒis.
- Florum Rhæados ʒiii.

White Poppy-feed bruised and given to ʒij.
Syrup of white Poppy-heads, to ʒis.
—of the Juice of Poppies, to ʒis.
—of Corn Poppy-flowers, to ʒij.

Of these various Forms of Medicines may be conveniently made, which may be used with great Safety; e. g. in A most gentle Draught.

Take of Corn-Poppy-flower-water $\frac{2}{3}$ij. of Bean-flower-water $\frac{2}{3}$j. of Piony-flower-water and Elder-flower-water, each $\frac{3}{8}$ss. of Tile-tree-flower-water $\frac{2}{3}$j. of Syrup of Corn-Poppy-flowers $\frac{3}{8}$ss. mix, &c.

The same may be made a little more dis-posing to sleep, if instead of the Syrup of Corn-Poppy-flowers be added the like Quantity of Diacodium, or Syrup of white Poppy-heads.

A very mild Emulsion.

Take of sweet Almonds, Pine-Apples, and white Poppy-Seeds, each $\frac{3}{2}$j. make an Emul-sion after the usual Method with a sufficient Quantity of Corn-Poppy-flower-water; to ten Ounces of which add one of Syrup of wild Poppy-flowers.

The same Emulsion a little more somniferous,

Is made by adding the like Quantity of Diacodium, or Syrup of white Poppy-heads, instead of the Syrup of wild Poppy-flowers.

(2.) Narcotics, properly so called, which are much stronger than the former, in the Form of Pills.

Pills.

Take of the purest Opium gr. ij. which make into three Pills, and give one for a Dose; but if that don't sufficiently operate, give another an Hour afterwards, and so the third.

A Powder.

Take of the purest Opium a little dry'd gr. ij. of red Coral and Barley-Sugar, each 3/8s. make them into a Powder, which divide into three Doses, and use like the preceding Pills.

A Bolus.

Take one Dose of the foregoing Powder, and mix it with a Dram of Marmalade of Quinces, which being formed into a Bolus, may be taken and repeated one after another, like the Pills.

Drops to be taken in a Draught.

Take of Opium a little dry'd 3/8j. of Spirit of Wine rectified 3j. make a Tincture. The Dose is 30 Drops in two Ounces of Bawm-water, sweeten'd with half an Ounce of Syrup of Corn-Poppy-flowers.
Or,

Take of Opium a little dry'd 3j. of distilled Vinegar 3j. make a Tincture, of which give 30 Drops in two Ounces of wild Poppy-flower-water, sweetened with half an Ounce of Syrup of Corn-Poppies.

A warm Mixture.

Take 70 Drops of Tincture of Opium, made with rectified Spirit of Wine, of Syrup of white Poppies 3vj. of Citron-water, Orange and Cinnamon-water, each 3ij. mix, and give a Spoonful every half Hour, till the Pain be eas'd.

A cooling Mixture.

Take of Tincture of Opium made with distilled Vinegar gut. 8o, of Syrup of Mulberries 3vj. of Borage and wild Poppy-water, each 3ij. mix, and use as the former.

An Emulsion.

Take of white Poppy-Seeds bruised 3ij. make an Emulsion with a sufficient quantity of Barley-water; to ten Ounces of which add of Diacodium 3ifs. of Tincture of Opium made with rectified Spirit of Wine gut. xx. of Cinnamon-water 3ij. of Citron-water 3x.

Give
Give an Ounce and half every half Hour, till the Pain begins to go off.

A Fomentation.

Take of Tincture of Opium made with distilled Vinegar 2ij. of Elder-flower-water and Rose-water, each 2ij. of Vinegar, of Elder-buds, and Roses, each 3fs. mix, and apply Cloths dipt therein to both the Temples.

Here the Application of softening Medicines to the Part in pain, which usually breaks the Patient's Rest, will be found very serviceable; particularly the following, applied and kept on warm till the Pain be mitigated.

A Cataplasm.

Take of the fresh gather'd Leaves of Garden Poppies Mj. of black Henbane Mfs. of Marshmallows Mjx. boil them in new Milk, and towards the end add of Linseed-meal 3j. of fresh drawn Linseed-oil 2ij. make it into a Poultets after the usual manner.

A Wash.

Take of the Juice pressed out from the Herbs of the foregoing Cataplasm, boiled in Milk, and made a little thinner, 1bij. mix with it a Dram of pure Opium, and use it in the Intention of the former.

Another
Another Balsam.

Take any Quantity of the cleanest Gum-Elemi in powder, and dissolve it in an equal Weight of the clearest genuine Venice Turpentine over a slow Fire; after Dissolution, and passing it thro' a Strainer, add of Oxens Marrow, that has been separated from the Bones by boiling and training, a Weight equal to both the former; this forms a Balsam of an universal Tendence, like that of Arceus.

Take of red Sanders-wood rasped \( \frac{1}{2} \)j. of common Water \( \frac{1}{2} \)jv. boil for the Space of two Hours; then strain, and evaporate to the Consistence of a thick Extract; to which add of Dragons-blood reduced to a very subtil Poudre \( \frac{3}{4} \)j. mix a little of this with the preceding Balsam, and it will form one of a beautiful red Colour.

Take Oil-Olive \( \frac{3}{4} \)fs. of red Sanders-wood \( \frac{3}{4} \)fs. boil them together gently till the Oil be tinged of a deep red, then pass it whilst hot thro' a linnen Strainer, and dissolve therein over a gentle Fire of yellow Wax \( \frac{1}{2} \)j. of the best Turpentine \( \frac{1}{2} \)fs. This is a Balsam like that of Lucatellus, and by adding thereto an Ounce of Peruvian Balsam, it will be made so much the more efficacious.
Black Basilicon.

Take of black Pitch, yellow Bees-wax, and common Rosin, each \( \frac{1}{6} \) of Linseed-Oil \( \frac{1}{6} \). These made into an Ointment after the usual Method, form the Basilicon or Tetrapharmacum of the Shops.

Take of yellow Bees-wax \( \frac{3}{4} \) of the Oil of St. Johns-wort made by infusing the Flowers \( \frac{1}{6} \) of Resin of the Pine-tree, and the best common Resin ground to a fine Powder, each \( \frac{3}{4} \) when they have been all melted over a gentle Fire, and strain'd thro' a linen Cloth, add of the purest Venice-Turpentine \( \frac{3}{4} \) and when it begins to congeal, stir in with a Stick of choice Mastic, and the best Frankincense in fine Powder, each \( \frac{3}{4} \) of Saffron ground fine \( \frac{3}{4} \) it is then the Unguentum aureum, or golden Ointment.

Sect. cxxxvi.

Coagulated and extravasated Blood is diluted and render'd fit to pass off by the following Medicines, or by others of the like nature.

Take
Take of common Honey ʒij. of Castile-Soap ʒij. of Sea Salt ʒjv. of Rain-water ʒxij. mix, &c.

Or,
Take of Salt Armoniac and Nitre, each ʒij. of the Urine of a healthy Person fresh made ʒxij. of common Honey ʒij. mix, &c.

Or,
Take of Aloes (that has been first dissolved in Water, well purified from its resinous Fæces, and afterwards gently evaporated again to a proper Consistence) ʒjv. of Salt Armoniac ʒij. of Borace ʒij. of refined Honey ʒij. of Rain-water ʒix. of French White-wine ʒij. mix, &c.

A prudent Application of these Injections warm, so as to be moved and shook together with the stagnating Blood in the Part, does not only dilute and resolve the same, but also prevent its Putrefaction, and make a way for its Exit; so that we are hence directed to the Use of these, chiefly where the Blood is actually extravasated, stagnating, and congeal'd in Wounds with large Cavities.

In Wounds of the Head.

To digest the contused Parts.

Here are serviceable all those Medicines which attenuate, dilute, and cleanse Wounds; also also Pledge's spread with the following Ointment may be applied with Success.

1. Intimately mix two Ounces of Turpentine with the Yolk of one Egg, to which add of Basilicon 3ij. of purified Aloes 3ij.

2. Over this apply the following Emplaster.

Take of Gum Galbanum strained, and afterwards beat up with the Yolk of an Egg, 3ij. of yellow Bees-wax 3ij. of the Oil of St. Johns-wort 3ij. mix, &c.

3. Lastly, apply over this whole Dressing hot woollen Cloths dipt and wrung out of the following Fomentation, so as to be as hot as the Part can well endure.

Take of the fresh gathered Leaves of Rue and Water-Germander, each M. ij. of Flowers of the lesser Centory, of Elder-flowers and Roses, each 3ij. boil in so much Water as to leave 30 Ounces after Expression; to which add of Spirit of Wine 3v. of Castile Soap 3ij.

Sect. cclii. No 2.

Take of single rectified Spirit of Wine 3ij. of Rose-water 3fs. of Gum Mastich pulverized 3ij. after boiling put it in a tall glass Vessel, and keep it for Use.

Sect. cclxxxix.

Purgatives proper in this Place are,

(1.) Mineral Waters, that purge gently, and without griping.

(2.)
Materia Medica. 75

(2.) Compounds. As,

Take of the purest Syrian Scammony gr. xjv. Hungary-water 3ij. grind them together in a glass Mortar, and after separating from the Fæces, mix with laxative Syrup of Roses with Sena 3vj. make a Draught.

Or,

Take of Jalap-root pulveriz'd 3j. of Loaf-Sugar 3ij. after grinding a good while in a Glass Mortar, add by a little at a time of Rain-water 3iij. and with half an Ounce of Syrup of Rhubarb make a Draught.

Sect. cclxxxi. No 2.

Attenuating, watery, and diluting Medicines, are here good.

Take of white Sanders-wood 3fs. of yellow Sanders-wood 3j. of Saffafras-wood 3fs. of Rue-leaves M. fs. of Agrimony-leaves M. j. of the Flowers of Arabian Lavender and common Lavender, each 3ij. of the Roots of Fennel, Parfyl and Butchers-broom, each 3j. boil in four Pints of Water for the space of a quarter of an Hour in a close Vessel; and give two Ounces to drink every half Hour.

These Remedies are laid down separately thro' the History of these Diseases.

In Wounds of the Thorax, or Breast.

Sect. ccxcv. See §. 236.

In Wounds of the Abdomen, or Belly.

Sect. cccxv.

A Fomentation proper in this Place.

Take a sufficient quantity of the Intestines of some young Animal, as e.g. Chickens Guts, let them be cleansed and boiled for 4 or 5 Minutes in a sufficient quantity of Water; then add of the Flowers of Camomile, Lavender, and Centory, each M. ls. of the Leaves of Mint M.j. let them stand about 4 or 5 Minutes to infuse, and then use the Decoction to foment with Cloths,

An instantaneous Fomentation may be made of new Milk warm.

Sect. cccxv. See §. 315.

Sect. cccxx.

A Glyster.

Take of common Honey 3iij. of Sea-salt 3j. of Barley-water 3vij. mix, and make a Glyster
Materia Medica.

Glyster; to be injected every Morning and Evening for the three first Days after the Wound has been made.

Let the Diet be only Broths, with a very little Salt.

For Contusions.

S e c t. cccxxxiv.

Strong Purges which do not inflame.

Take of Agaric ʒjʃs. of Sal Polychrestum ʒj. mix, and make a Potion.

Or,

Take of the middle Bark of dwarf or common Elder whilst green and juicy ʒj. beat it with as much common Water (boiling a little) as to express ʒjv. for a Draught.

Take Jalap prepared as at §. 279.

Or,

Take of Jalap-root in Powder ʒjʃs.

Or,

Take of white Jalap pulveriz’d ʒj.

Or,

Take of Sea Colwort-leaves fresh gather’d ʒj.
Dr. Boerhaave's

Or,

Take of Agaric 3ij. of Sena-leaves 3ij. of white Jalap-root 3j. of Tamarinds 3ij. being all cut and bruised, infuse them for the space of half an Hour in as much Rain-water as will make nine Ounces of Decoction; after which boil gently about half a quarter of an Hour; strain, and add of Salt Prunell. 3fs. of laxative Syrup of Roses with Sena 3jx. Give an Ounce every half Hour, till the Patient be sufficiently well purged.

To effect the same in a less quantity.

Take of Syrian Scammony gr. xiiij. of diaphoretic Antimony gr. xx. of laxative Syrup of Roses with Sena 3 vj. mix accurately with half an Ounce of Succory-water, and make a Draught.

A Fomentation for a Contusion.

Take of white Briony-root 3ij. of round Birthwort-roots 3j. of the Leaves of Rue and Savin fresh gather'd each M. j. of the Flowers of Tansey, Camomile and Feverfew, each 3j. of Onions fresh gather'd 3 vj. digest with a sufficient quantity of Water to afford 25 Ounces of Juice, in a Vessel close stop'd in a Heat near that of boiling Water; then strongly wring out the Liquor from the Ingredients in in a Cloth, and add thereto half an Ounce of Linseed-meal; just boil them up together, and add of Treacle-water ¼j. of Salt-Aromatiac ¼j. Let it be applied with Flannels.

A Cataplasm for a Contusion.

Make the preceding Ingredients into a Cataplasm with a sufficient quantity of Linseed-meal, to which add of Gum-Galbanum dissolved in the Yolk of an Egg ¼j. of Oil of Camomile by Infusion ¼j. ¼j.

A Plaister for the same.

Take of Briony-root in fine Powder ¼j. of Flour of Brimstone ¼j. of Æthiops mineral ¼j. of the purest Galbanum dissolved as before ¼jv. of the Melilot-Plaster ¼jx. of Oil of Camomile by Infusion a quantity sufficient to make the whole into an Emplaster.
